Lions Dig In As Cattle Project Gets Under Way

Members Set Stiff Schedule For Making Necessary Improvements

Doctors, lawyers, merchants, chiefs were all showing shovels Wednesday when the Lions Cattle Industry Incorporated got under way.

A rigorous schedule is set up for Lions in creating and operating their new project which officially began with the purchase of one steer at the first Glades Livestock Market sale.

The task of planting grass on the fifty acre ranch, located near the Wedgworth Estate and the Experiment Station, began a week from last Wednesday.

According to the program outlined, Lions will be found with rolled up sleeves on Wednesday afternoon and Saturday morning laboring on their charity project.

Activities began at 8 a.m. on Saturday, said Henry O. Earwood, president. If a member is unable to participate, he must pay for a colored laborer for the purpose. Local boys interested in the field, colored differences aren't distinguishable, Earwood says.

Principal aim of the project is to raise funds for a community swimming pool. The club already has some money for the purpose. Local boys interested in the pool are urged to help on the ranch.

Set up on a business basis, the ranch includes 50 acres leased from W. H. Hooker for five years for payment of taxes.

The club already has 21 steers purchased by Vernie Boots which are grazing on Mrs. Wedgworth Timmons' pasture. The cattle will be moved to the Lions ranch when the fencing is up.

An advisory committee of businessmen, cattlemen and farmers have overall control.

Each week a Lion member will check on the cattle, make out reports and report any irregularity to the advisory committee.

With completion of improvements, Lions plan a campaign for raising money on a loan basis. The goal is to get a hundred "backers" to loan enough to purchase a cow apiece. The cattle will be repaid without interest when the animal is sold.

As long as there's youth there'll be pioneering. Typifying young men who will be on land like that shown in the background are (from left) Wilbur Kirchman, secretary-treasurer; Loren Meredith, Pahokee, president; and Carmel Salvatore, Jr., Pahokee, members of the newly-organized Pelican Bay Co-operative that will farm and ranch these wild acres.

Group Of Young Glades Veterans Form Co-Op On State Owned Lands

(Editor's note: The following article is reprinted from the July issue of the "Florida Grower". The article originally appeared under the title, "Vets Will Cultivate Wild Glades Land" by Harris H. Mullen.)

Nearly 120 young veterans are breaking the soil of more than 5000 acres of raw, uncultivated, Glades land to start the first farm co-operative composed entirely of veterans in Florida.

Somewhere along the line the idea of forming a group of veterans had the idea, but the word got out, and enthusiasm rose steadily. These boys, who had already learned how to fight together, found it easy to regiment themselves for this new cause.

A little group composed of Gordon Hillis, Loren Meredith, Joe Alderman, and J. J. Frause decided to make a trip to Tallahassee to explore the possibilities of securing some unused state land. They asked Russell Moore to act as their attorney.

At the state capital they talked to members of state Internal Improvement board. They asked the board for land which was known as Pelican Bay bottom. However, nothing ever came of this request. The board advised the youths to go back home and organize themselves, then come back as a representative group.

The veterans took the board's advice.

At 41.045 which represented a decrease of 26 per cent from May of last year. Approximately 32 per cent of job seekers are unemployed.

There was little change in the number of job openings available in April and May with about 6,000 being listed each month. These openings were about 3,000 more than were received during May a year ago.

In conjunction with the training and effective referral of applicants for referral to certain job openings, the Employment Service officers administer various types of aptitude and efficiency tests to determine applicants' potential fitness for jobs.

Directors and members expressed enthusiasm at the increased cattle prices brought about by the market's opening.

"An unusual number of buyers attend the market regularly, and a continued supply of fat calves insure the market's volume," said George C. Young, market manager.

President Roy Vandegriff pointed out that the supply can be maintained if local producers take a few cattle to the market.

The market had $441,000 worth of cattle at its sight sales. At this continued rate, the total of $2,000,000 is anticipated for the year, according to Young.

Job Placements Hit All Time High For May

During the past month job placements made by the Florida State Employment Service hit an all time record for May, exclusive of the war period, according to Raymond E. Barnes, Chairman of the Florida Industrial Commission.

Throughout the State, 32,493 were placed in jobs, an increase of five per cent over April and an increase of 1,440 women constituted 16 per cent of the total and veterans composed nine per cent.

The number of job seekers registered with the Employment Service offices dropped approximately 6 per cent last month. At the end of May applicants for work on file statewide were

An Ideal
A young man with an ideal came to the Herald office the other day. He is devoting his educational background and youthful energies toward the accomplishment of a goal which he believes may offer the path to peace and freedom.

He understands that Korea, on the opposite side of the world from Belle Glade and about 22 hours away by air, is closer than we think. He knows that time and distance are growing shorter. The man is Ray Short working for the United World Federalists organization. His present duties include securing passage of a resolution on world government in Florida.

The amendment, to be voted on in the general election November 5 reads: "Do you as a sovereign citizen of Florida and the United States of America, direct our representatives in the national congress to urge the President and the congress to take the lead in calling for amendments to the United Nations into a limited world federal government capable of but limited to enacting, interpreting and enforcing laws to prevent war?"

In Connecicut's referendum the vote was 11 to 1 favoring the resolution. In spite of recent world developments, Ray and his United World Federalists keep working. They hope that their efforts will not be too little and too late.

Their sermon is peace and freedom. They hope to prove that these are not merely hollow symbols of the dead past.

Guiding concept of the World Federalists is "world peace" can be created and maintained only under a world federal government, universal and strong enough to prevent armed conflict between nations, and having direct jurisdiction over the individual in those matters within its authority."

Their efforts are directed toward strengthening the United Nations framework. Current opinion says that the present aggressive action of the United States in South Korea has resulted in strengthening the United Nations. The action may assure the organization permanent legal status.

So time and space shrinks. Belle Glade is closer to the opposite side of the globe. Meanwhile, Short and his workers strive toward peace by talking with state leaders, businessmen and the public. Their hope is that many July 4ths can be celebrated in peace, and that the world's last war will be averted.

4-H CLUB MEMBERS TO CONTRIBUTE TO STATE AGRICULTURAL ADVANCE

The future of Florida agriculture is bright, and the 4-H club is one of the major reasons for this. The club has continued progress and improvement. Florida agriculture must have capable, energetic, and public-spirited men and women to carry on in the future, and the purpose of the 4-H club is to train and develop such good citizens from the youth of today. Members of the 4-H clubs are cooperation, of getting along in friendly and helpful manner with each other, and of working together for their individual and collective good. The work they do in their projects is wholesome and good, and their associations, play, and other activities are likewise wholesome and good.

Club members are industrious, friendly, energetic, loyal, eager to learn and eager to achieve, and the training they get helps them in all of these things. Their interest in and loyalty to their club, their community, and their country are inspiring to all who are familiar with them and their activities. Nowadays there is much concern over juvenile delinquency in the nation, but one doesn't find juvenile delinquency in the 4-H clubs. Club members are busy learning about and doing constructive things, becoming familiar with and practicing the principles of good citizenship and becoming imbued early with the desire to improve themselves, their families, and communities and to serve their country's interests. Florida's 4-H clubs are something of which rural people are justly proud in the state—may well be proud. Florida will continue to advance and the youngsters in the 4-H clubs today will have much to do with the advancement.

LODGER AND CLUB
W. H. Smith, Mrs. John Smith and Mrs. J. H. Smith, of the Belle Glade Hotel, are planning a 4-H Club and Legal Holiday Club. They will meet at 12:15 p.m. on Wednesday and Thursday, July 12 and 13, at the Belle Glade Hotel. Regular meetings of the club will be held at 8:00 p.m. at the Belle Glade Hotel. The club will hold its first meeting at 8:00 p.m. at the Belle Glade Hotel. The club will hold its first meeting at 8:00 p.m. at the Belle Glade Hotel.

MAKING LOGS
To Meet in New Orleans For 16th Annual Event
Selection of New Orleans as the site for this year's convention of the National Junior Vegetable Growers Association was announced by H. E. Wood, State Director of Agricultural Education, at the annual meeting of the association held at the New Orleans Hotel on July 10.

In making the announcement Wood reminded Florida farm youths that there is still time to enroll in the NJVGA's production-marketing contest and to compete for $6,000 in agricultural scholarship awards. A & P Food Stores provides for this event each year. "Florida hopes to have a large delegation at the convention, and any Peninsula State boy or girl who wants to attend should enroll in the NJVGA as soon as possible," he said.

The four-day meeting will climax a record-breaking year for the NJVGA's program, in which thousands of farm youths throughout the country are participating. An educational and entertaining program has been prepared for their New Orleans stay.

Inspection trips into the famed tidewater farm lands of the Gulf of Mexico, visits to the city's many historical landmarks, a cruise up the Mississippi, and many other interesting features are included in the program. Highlight of the convention will be a formal banquet concluding the year's activities. Principal interest at this traditional banquet centers around naming of the national junior vegetable growing champion, four regional champions, and national champions, and more than 150 state winners in the production-marketing contest.

Commenting on this contest, Wood pointed out that it is essentially an educational program which helps spread knowledge of latest scientific agricultural developments. "Any farm youth taking part in the NJVGA's activities should certainly benefit from becoming familiar with these new methods," he said.

Another highlight will be the national demonstration contest finals. Competing will be winners of state contests, whose expenses to the convention, plus cash prizes to top national winners, are awarded by the W. A. Lee Burpee Seed Company. Youth interested in joining the NJVGA should contact local 4-H club leaders, county agents, or instructors in vocational agriculture.

The Churches of Belle Glade Area Invite You to Attend Church Sunday

This Week's Sermonists Was Written By Rev. Leonard F. Vanderwaal Pastor of The Community Methodist Church.

Most men are destined to inconspicuous careers. Very few achieve world fame. The number of men who will achieve fame by self-expression, as writers, artists, musicians, actors, and so forth, is very small. But to every man there is open the opportunity of achieving a moral, ethical, and spiritual personality the expression of which is a tower of strength to the community and a lasting satisfaction to himself. One of the great contributions the church has to offer, modern men is to set before them the goal, the incentive, and the technique of a life brought into harmony with the universe, actively participating in the affairs of the world but not dependent on the world; a free and unhampered expression of personality which is free and unhampered because it has been to school to God and now think with the mind of Jesus, feels with the intensity of His heart, and is driven by the same indomitable purposes as was Jesus.

It is the duty of the church to develop moral leaders. It is the duty of the pulpit to help men know how to live the good life, to teach men and women that in their turn may equip their children for life. No child is equipped for life until he has been equipped with ideals, motives, attitudes, and purposes. He may have the best training the schools can give him, but if he has no high ideal for business purposes he may be an exploiter whose presence in the community is a constant hazard for every individual living in that community.

The church has responsibility for the life of the community. Its message is for all classes, all ages, and all conditions. Long ago One said, "My people perish for lack of vision." Jesus wondered, "Can the blind lead the blind?"
